Introduction

The Nova Scotia Real Estate Commission (the Commission) specifies education requirements and registration procedures for real estate salespersons and brokers in the province of Nova Scotia. The Nova Scotia Association of REALTORS® (NSAR), its nominee for education, offers the Salesperson and Broker Licensing Courses to eligible individuals. NSAR sells the study materials applicants need to prepare for the exam.

The Registrar makes all decisions in regard to licensing qualifications and educational requirements. As part of the decision making process for the Examination Challenge, the Registrar may require input from the NSAR and the Commission Licensing Committee.

Challenge exam eligibility is based on the educational requirements and occupational standards of the jurisdiction in which the individual is/was licenced to trade in real estate. A licensing, education, and disciplinary history issued by the regulatory body of originating jurisdiction is required to ensure that individuals meet entrance requirements to the profession prior to being permitted to register for the challenge exam.

The final decision regarding eligibility for this program rests with the Registrar of the Nova Scotia Real Estate Commission. The Registrar is empowered to exercise such powers and duties as are conferred by the Real Estate Trading Act, including all matters involving educational requirements and licensing.

Any applicant that is refused a licence by the Registrar may appeal the decision to the Commission Licensing Committee.

Challenge examination

The Challenge Examination tests skills and competencies relating to province-specific content. Challenge examinations apply to real estate salespeople and brokers who are currently licensed or have been licensed within the previous 12 months in international jurisdictions that have a regulatory body, occupational, and educational standards.

The Challenge Examination assesses skills/competencies in regard to province-specific materials.

Exam registration process

Step 1: Licensing, education, and discipline history—Applicants must provide a licensing, education, and discipline history issued by the regulatory body where they are currently licensed or were licensed within the preceding 12 months. Once your licensing history has been reviewed, you will be contacted by the Commission’s licensing officer. The licensing officer may direct you to register for the exam or provide you with reasons your licensing history is not acceptable and a list of steps you will need to take to become eligible to take the challenge exam. Once those steps are complete, you may register for the exam.

Step 2: Register—Submit an exam application. Exam locations, dates and times are listed on the exam application. Once your exam application is processed, you will receive a paid invoice confirming the exam location, date, and time.

About the exam

The Challenge Examination assumes that common topics (as recognized by real estate regulators), and associated skills and competencies are adequately addressed through licensing/registration courses in the originating jurisdiction. The Challenge Examination is based on skills/competencies for uncommon (province-specific) subject matter, most notably Nova Scotia legislation impacting the trading of real estate and unique regulatory considerations affecting licensees.

Format: Exam questions focus on province-specific topics from the licensing course, as applicable. No notes or scrap paper may be taken into the examination room.

Pass Mark: The pass mark is 70 per cent.

Rewrites: Should the applicant not be successful in achieving 70 per cent, they must make arrangements to challenge the exam again.

Identification: Photo identification (either a valid driver's license or passport) must be presented to write the Challenge Examinations. No exceptions are permitted.

Cancellation: Due to unforeseen circumstances, examination dates may be cancelled and/or examination centres may be closed without notice. In such cases, examinations will be rescheduled and/or relocated.

Preparing for the exam

Licensing courses in Nova Scotia use an integrated encyclopedia/workbook learning design.

While it is important to study the province-specific content noted in this booklet, applicants should review all course materials. The Real Estate Encyclopedia, Provincial Reference Manual, and Salesperson Licensing Course workbooks contain easy-to-follow procedural steps, tips, and guidelines. Appendices in all three course workbooks include exercise answers.

Salesperson licensing course materials: The Workbook and Forms and Solutions Guide provide the main reference materials for the examination challenge.

Common v. province-specific topics: Testing mechanisms in the Challenge Examination emphasize skills and competencies relating to province-specific content, but assume knowledge of generally-accepted real estate principles, practices, and knowledge common to provincial jurisdictions. As such, overall familiarity with all texts and workbook content (province-specific and common) is essential when preparing for the examination.

Exercises/Assignments: Applicants do not have to complete the course assignments to write the exam; however, completing the assignments will assist in writing the exam. Answers are provided in the Forms and Solutions Workbook.

Real Estate Encyclopedia: The Real Estate Encyclopedia consists of common topics.

Provincial Reference Manual: The Provincial Reference Manual consists of province-specific materials.
